WELCOME

We are excited to prepare for the fourth year of the Silver Kingdom Renaissance Festival! The success and enjoyment of the 2009 Festival has us excited about the growth we can expect in 2010, while maintaining the community atmosphere we want to foster. We look forward to a fun and busy few days, filled with song and laughter, food and drink, goods and games, and hope you will join our growing community.

Our 2009 attendance numbers increased significantly from the previous year's numbers, and for 2010 we expect to continue building on the recognition we have gained both locally and in the Ren Faire and LARP communities. We are incorporating many of the great ideas and feedback received from vendors, entertainers, volunteers, and faire-goers for getting the word out to an even more widely ranged audience. Of course, we also encourage you to increase traffic to the Festival and your booth through mailing lists, message boards and circuit visits.

Festival Theme

The theme of the Festival is fantasy of the late medieval to early renaissance age. We emphasize a strong fantasy influence (elves, dwarves, dragons, wizards, warriors).

Location

The Festival is located at Ye Olde Commons in Charlton, MA, a community located near Worcester. The site consists of 40 acres of open and wooded area, with a large Tavern Hall, period cabins, and decorative scenes and stages throughout the grounds.

Please feel free to visit the site online for information and directions:

www.yeoldecommons.com

This site is conveniently located off Route 20, only minutes away from I-90, I-395, and I-84. This makes it readily accessible to travelers from around the New England area and beyond. Camping and food are available on site, but there are also numerous other lodging facilities and restaurants within a short driving distance.

Community

Lione LLC is the organizer of a proven seventeen-year-old LARP (live action roleplaying game). Also going by the title of its most recent multi-year campaign, End of Seasons, we pride ourselves on our staff and our customers who have over the years become our friends and make up our strong community. To us, this Festival is about reinforcing those bonds of creativity and camaraderie, and bringing a sense of medieval fantasy to new friends and the local community.

We invite you to become a part of our family and join us in this wonderful venture. If you are curious about the background world behind the festival, please visit our game site: www.endofseasons.com.

ENTERTAINMENT

We welcome all manner of entertainment acts that fit a renaissance, medieval, or fantasy theme. Our goal is to provide a festive and joyous atmosphere, engaging to the attendees and entertainers alike so that everyone can become immersed in the setting.

We ask for detailed descriptions, and if possible and appropriate, photos or recordings of the show you plan to perform at the Festival. This information will be used by us to ensure the show is appropriate for the Festival, as well as for promoting your show and the Festival. Please note that we will not return any materials to you, so an electronic file is sufficient.

YOUR SHOW

Costuming

During Festival hours the entertainer should be dressed in appropriate Festival costume. Please avoid jeans, sneakers, t-shirts or other obvious modern clothing.

Check-In

On Saturday morning of the Festival, an hour before gate opens, all entertainers are expected to attend an orientation and planning meeting. Entertainers should be in costume prior to this meeting. Failure to attend this meeting will result in a $50 fine. If for some reason you foresee that you will be unable to attend this meeting, please contact the Entertainment Coordinator before arriving.

Show Times

Your show will be scheduled as described in the attached Show Listing. The Festival is open rain or shine. Some of the Festival stages are susceptible to rain. Although we may reschedule acts as appropriate due to inclement weather, we encourage the entertainer to insure their show can go on.

Location

If you have particular requirements for your show stage, such as electrical hookup, smooth floor, indoor setting, outdoor setting, etc., please let us know well ahead of the Festival (by March 1) to assure we can plan the appropriate location of your act.

Setup

The entertainer will be responsible for setup and removal of all items and equipment as appropriate for the show.

Recording

Recording of your show will only be allowed with the explicit permission of both the entertainer and the Festival.

FINANCIALS

Entertainer Food Provision

Performers will be provided with access to our green room on the days of the Festival when you are performing.

Entertainer Payments

Entertainer payments will be made by check on Sunday afternoon, following the closing of the Festival.

Insurance

It is recommended that entertainers have liability insurance that protects both them and the Festival. In some cases of special acts that present an increased risk of physical harm we may require proof of insurance that names Lione LLC and Ye Olde Commons as "additional insured."

Product Sales

The entertainer is permitted to sell recordings of their own show on appropriate media. Sales can be made immediately after each show, or during the Festival if the entertainer wanders the grounds staging ad hoc performances.

Program Advertising

We will be putting together a program listing entertainment locations. If you want to advertise your show or products, please contact us about advertising in our program.

The deadline for program advertisements is May 1st, 2010.
